The Black is a huge horse and being all one color exaggerated this. He is also a proud, unbroken horse and so carries himself with a pride and confidence that a more trained or "domesticated" horse does not. He is wild and this wildness turns to pure speed when harnessed, which is apparent in the look in his eyes as well.

A shadow broods over the world of Adarya as the dark lord Naurleth prepares to unleash his power. Everything seems hopeless for Ltheny, the leader of the Capprinces, a small people dwelling in southern Adarya. Naurleth's forces, led by his merciless captain, are moving closer to the Capprinces' homeland every day, and an attack is imminent. Ltheny's city is alone in its struggle - all of its allies are too far away to bring aid, and preoccupied with their own troubles. To make matters worse, the Niorians, a sea-faring people who have been on the brink of war with the Capprinces for decades, have been seen near the Capprinces' borders. Defeat seems certain, and Ltheny is forced to decide whether her people must abandon their home in order to survive. Everything changes, however, after a chance meeting with Anamer, the captain of the Niorians. Ltheny finds herself whisked away on an adventure aboard Anamer's ship, The Quest. All around her, legends spring to life as the ship strays into the Shadowy Seas, in the heart of Naurleth's territory. After various encounters with long-forgotten perils, and the discovery or a weapon that could rewrite Adarya's history, Ltheny and the other passengers aboard The Quest escape from the Shadowy Seas, only to find that things are not well at home. In order to warn the others of Naurleth's threat, they must overcome old prejudices, elude capture by Naurleth's agents, and delve deep into the secrets of Adarya's past. Amid the battle between good and evil, Ltheny finds a friendship with the Niorians that is constantly tested through the twists and turns of their adventure.

Jacques has left the love of his life, Jeannette, in England as he follows his destiny, immigrating to Canada with his three Percheron horses from France in a harrowing voyage from Liverpool to Montreal in late winter of 1852, while she and her family are dealing with the consequences of her dysfunctional brother's behavior, promising to follow when things are better. After their business is bombed and their stable burned, she convinces her family to immigrate with her, but on the way to Liverpool, her rebellious brother falls in love with Lord Montgomery's daughter, with disastrous implications. Fast-moving adventure and intriguing romance make this a page-turner. Set in the midst of the Victorian Age, the intrigue of the Gypsies, woven through with the Gospel Message, it is both an exciting and heartwarming tale.

Margaret is not a conventional woman of the early-nineteenth century. She's not interested in pretty dresses and tea parties, but instead longs for adventure in the great outdoors. Margaret convinces her father, William, to seek opportunity in the fur trade business. They embark on a journey that follows the Lewis and Clark route along the Missouri River into Blackfoot country to trade for beaver skins. As she gains freedom from the social structures that bind her in the East, she doesn't anticipate the changes this new life brings. The travelers face an array of challenges from the weather, wild animals, and the native Indian tribes. Margaret thrives in this wild country, where she catches sight of Taima, the Thunder Horse, who refuses to be caught. Together with Night Hawk, a warrior in the Black Horse Band of the Kainah Blackfoot, they both seek to capture this beautiful, wild horse. Night Hawk believes the elusive Taima will fulfill his dreams. He doesn't expect his plan or his life to be complicated by a Long Knife woman with similar dreams. Margaret, Night Hawk, and Taima gain honor and strength from each other; a strength that is shared with the Black Horse Band, providing a link to the future that could have been.
